ON THE LOS ANGELES LOSING field at 12:30 yesterday Mayor Moore said: "Kelly will be along any minute now."

There appears a speck in the sky and along comes Kelly, leaning over his right wing as he curves around the landing field, then taxies up, with the roar of propeller and engine dying down.

A LITTLE FORD mail wagon picks up 320 pounds of mail, as a chipmunk bird might take a worm from an eagle, and hurries away to the postoffice. Out climbs the pilot, F. W. Harvard Man Makes Cancer Discovery

300 SCHOOL CHILDREN FLEE AS ONE-MAN CAR CRASHES INTO FENCE

Four persons were injured today and 22 others were shaken up when a one-man trolley car left the rails at the foot of a steep grade in East Milton, crashed through the fence bordering the railroad tracks, snapped off a telegraph pole and came to a stop a few feet from the railroad.

The most seriously injured was Mrs. Minnie Furber of No. 103 River street, Mattapan, who was carried to a house for treatment.

James W. Wells, 45, Pleasant street, Milton, and A. F. McLeod, 45, North street, Milton, were seriously shaken up and bruised. Twenty-five school children, sitting on the fence waiting for special cars to carry them to school, scattered when they saw the derailed trolley plunging toward them and narrowly escaped death or injury.

The broken telegraph pole, in falling, crashed against the locomotive cab of a Boston-bound train, which the trolley car was speeding to meet, and at East Milton station.

The accident occurred at the foot of a grade where the car was making

HARVARD MAN MAKES CANCER DISCOVERY

Cure of cancer by application of electric currents—starting new departure in methods of combating America's most potent menace to life and health—has been tentatively demonstrated at Harvard by doctors working on cancerous-infected plants.

Experiments are now being made by Dr. J. W. Schlesselman, principal investigator of the electrical method, on the white mice and other small animals, and, if the complete success achieved in the case of plants is repeated, the treatment will soon be applied to human beings.

Experimenting a virtually unexplored region, the Harvard doctor and his assistants took germination

HALL CAUGHT KISSING CHURCH SINGER; LATTER BOASTED OF THEIR LOVE

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 16.—Love scenes between the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, especially one where they were surprised while kissing, were described at the trial today by Mrs. Marie M. Lee, of Paterson, another sister of the slain choir singer.

Mrs. Lee told also of an unusual conference between Mrs. Mills, her husband, James, the sexton, and herself, at which Mrs. Mills mainly announced her love for Dr. Hall and her intention to elope with him. Jimmy Mills, as is his custom, "didn't say anything," the witness said.

Mrs. Mills told Mrs. Lee that she was in the parlor of the Rev. Dr. Hall's home, at 103 River street, Mattapan, when she saw the Rev. Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills in the parlor.

GALE TO HIT HUB; WIND DAMAGES SPRINGFIELD

A severe storm hit the Houghton & Dutton store was shattered. Only the roofing of the store prevented pedestrians from being showered with plate glass.

In Poplar street, Roslindale, a tree was blown down, striking a parked automobile. The car had no occupants. It was damaged slightly.

All along the coast warnings were sent out by small craft to stand by for a heavy blow. The weather man says the full force will strike here tonight.

President Coolidge's personal secretary, Edward T. Clark, admitted today that the President's two tickets for the Navy-Michigan football game were given to President Coolidge himself, and he also admitted that, as the youth claimed, a White House automobile and secret service men were supposed to carry him and the girl to Baltimore.

As the White House secretary said, "I don't know where the girl is."

RAILS WERE SLIPPING
One of the first to reach the scene was the regular motorman of the line who said he was laid off yesterday because of having split a switch.

Police launched an investigation to find the blame. Slippery rails are believed to have contributed to the crash. The car was a heavy one built for two-man operation, but operated by only one man in accordance with the practice on many lines of the road, the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company.

A call for doctors was finished out by the policemen and all the injured were treated at the scene. Several women among those shaken up returned home, suffering from nervousness.

U. S. MOVES IN BIG OIL SUITS

Washington, Nov. 16 (A.P.)—Consideration of the Sinclair and Doherty civil suit apparently has been set aside for a time. It is the opinion of the Supreme Court today by the government's oil counsel.

It is customary for the court to consider suits which come up concurrently from separate jurisdictions and deal with similar subjects. The government counsel asked the court to decide the Doherty case, which involves lease of the Elk Hills oil reserve in California, before taking up the Sinclair case, involving lease of the Teapot Dome reserve in Wyoming. In each case the court of appeals has upheld the government's plea for cancellation of the lease.

Liquor for Sargent! 'Take It Away,' He Cries Out Loud

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 16.—"Take this stuff away!" The words rang out through a crowded banquet hall where among those present was Attorney-General John O. Sargent. Some enthusiasts had just poured a stiff one into the glass beside Sargent. He lifted it and then ordered it removed.

The facts of the incident leaked out here today. The banquet was tendered to Major De Bernardi, winner of the Schneider Seaplane race.

The enthusiast had brought some alleged whiskey in a hip flask. Being hospitable, he poured one for Sargent.

It could not be learned whether the Attorney-General objected to the fluid as anti-prohibition, or just did not like the smell of the anti-prohibition "whiskey."

ALL FORCES IN TAX FIGHT

Washington, Nov. 16.—All branches of the administration are working for one common cause in the matter of taxation, and that is a 15 per cent. reduction whereby the taxpayers may benefit from the surplus which is accruing to the treasury.

This statement was made at the White House today in behalf of President Coolidge to offset what has been termed confusion over the various appeals, such as rebates, refunds and credits, being used in discussing the probable action of Congress at the coming session.

Mr. Coolidge and Secretary Mellon are in harmony on the general proposition that the taxpayers should benefit from the surplus on the first two payments in 1927 on this year's income.

It was reiterated that the President has not undertaken to offer any definite plan, feeling this is a matter peculiarly up to the House, where all financial legislation originates. He assumed that when the Ways and Means Committee accedes definitely the probable amount of the surplus on hand at the end of the fiscal year, the committee will be the best judge as to the form the reduction shall take and the manner in which it shall be put in operation.

planned the story, Hall called two hours before the game was to begin in Baltimore, 40 miles from Washington, saying he had gone South just to see the game and had failed to find a halfpenny friend who was to provide two tickets. He also said he was a brother of Alfred Hall, Republican leader of Edgemoor.

Clark knew that Everett Sanders, official secretary to the President, had been holding two tickets for a friend, but it was so late that it had become apparent that Sanders' friend was not going to call for the tickets. Together they figured that young Hall would not have any opportunity to appreciate at that late hour and jokingly exhorting him to get back home in time to vote they let him have the precious tickets.

Hall is under arrest in Boston charged with misrepresentation to obtain possession of an automobile and expensive clothing, which he said he had used in a six weeks tour. He cut a dashy figure at police headquarters in navy sport clothes and touting golf clubs and other sporting paraphernalia.

HARVARD MAN DEVELOPING CANCER CURE

before long, according to Dr. C. C. Pierce, acting surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service, who revealed the unprecedented Harvard achievement in an announcement today.

The new method of treatment will be approved only by the surgeon-general, who has been instructed on a large scale, said Dr. Pierce, but he placed great faith in the electrical treatment. Thus far, he pointed out, only surgery, radium and X-ray are approved methods, as he anti-toxin cure has never been accepted by the government.

One of the features explained by Dr. Pierce regarding the Harvard case was that the cancerous growth, which responded to the electrical method, could not be "cured" otherwise, even by surgery, for the cancer grew and grew after apparently having been entirely cut-out by the scalpel.

GREATEST MENACE TO LIFE

"Cancer is our greatest menace," it is said. "Cancer causes deaths that one out of every ten adults living in the United States is destined to die of cancer. Between the ages of 20 and 40, cancer is the leading cause of death among women is caused by cancer, which is a far greater enemy to adult life than tuberculosis."

Medical science in treating its most serious and intractable disease, cancer, is making great progress. It is the theory advanced by Dr. C. C. Pierce, of New York and Toronto.

Dr. Pierce, whose research in cancer work is internationally known, indicates he had found cancer to be just to see the game and had failed to find a halfpenny friend who was to provide two tickets. He also said he was a brother of Alfred Hall, Republican leader of Edgemoor.

Dr. Robert Greenough of this city, one of the foremost cancer experts in the world, talking to the Boston Evening American today, met the theory advanced by Dr. C. C. Pierce with even stronger remarks.

ASKS QUESTIONS

Is there such an element as a cancer germ? Can a horse be infected with the "germ" from the body of a human? Can the horse successfully combat and defeat the "germ"?

Can the medical world develop an anti-toxin from the blood of the horse which will successfully destroy the invader of cancer in the human body?

Too many times have the hopes of cancer victims been raised, only to crumble with keen disappointment when subsequent tests of new cures have failed to be followed by substantiating results, said Dr. Greenough. He expressed a hope that the world would accept the Glover theory with the same skeptical attitude of medical men, until it is unquestionably proven. "Trust will 'fakers' and 'quacks' be prevented from trying upon cancer sufferers, he added.

FEARS RACE OF HEAD

Dr. Greenough expressed a fear that the Glover theory classifying cancer as an infectious disease, might stir the world and cause an era of cancer contagion dread. Such a belief would be regrettable, he said, for regardless of the Glover theory, "No state of cancer has ever been recorded that can be attributed to contact with an individual so infected."

Dr. George H. Bigelow, commissioner of public health for Massachusetts, was reluctant about acclaiming the success of the Glover theory. If the Glover method will distract cancer specialists from radium to a reasonable extent it will be a good thing for the world, Dr. Bigelow said. "Too much radium is now being said to have used in a six weeks tour. He cut a dashy figure at police headquarters in navy sport clothes and touting golf clubs and other sporting paraphernalia.

Dr. Pierce, who has been treating cancer through the electrical method, said that he had been treating cancer through the electrical method, and that he had been treating cancer through the electrical method.

HUB WILL LINK SAN FRANCISCO AND LONDON

Besides being the logical terminus for trans-Atlantic airplane service, Boston is an ideally situated halfway point for the great long-distance line of the future that will link San Francisco and London in a 16-hour time.

President Thomas L. Hill of the American Society for the Promotion of Aviation.

Tuesday's four-hour flight from San Francisco to Boston, a change of planes, and then a hop to London in less than 16 hours—the route leaving some of the future that Hill visions.

After an intensive study of conditions in Boston, President Hill advised State or city authorities to make certain needed improvements at the Boston Airport in order to make the route a "logical aviation feature."

HUB LOGICAL TERMINUS
"The Boston Airport should be made available for passengers," he said. "Moreover, Massachusetts should spend a great deal of money to fill in and grade adjacent land to enlarge the landing area, and there ought to be facilities for commercial development and aircraft manufacturing."

"Boston is the logical terminus for the American-European line. I have flown from the airport and can say that its personnel compare with the best in the country, and I see a great future for Boston in air matters."

"The American Society for the Promotion of Aviation has been asked to sponsor a trans-Atlantic flight every week. Summer and winter pilots have expressed a wish to be members of the crew. We have tentatively planned to spend in the nation for funds and the necessary amount is approximately $10,000."

MORE LANDING FIELDS

"We also hope to get every municipality in America to construct a landing field so that aviators in trouble in the air can land, repair their planes and quickly hop off again without annoying their machines, and sometimes themselves, in landing in small, rough fields."

"Aviation is 'booming'. To cite one illustration, there are now in the United States fifty youngsters under seventeen years of age who can fly and two under fourteen years who have pilot licenses. This is encouraging, but with landing fields everywhere the public soon becomes so much more interested in airplanes that the youth of the next generation will make this number look ridiculous."

MAY ALISON MARRIED TO PUBLISHER

A marriage, an engagement and a severed betrothal today brought three popular screen actresses, May Allison, Dorothy MacKail and Shirley Mason, into the limelight.

May Allison, beautiful blonde star, became the bride of James Robert Quirk, owner and publisher of Photoplay, at a ceremony performed in 215 Miesbach Road, Santa Barbara, Cal., and the couple are honeymooning in Southern California.

Miss Allison is twenty-eight years old and has been well known on the screen for a number of years.

Dorothy MacKail, a recent addition to the ranks of the feminine stars, is to marry Lothar Mandes, German film director, at noon tomorrow in New York, and her wedding celebrates a romance of the rapid variety.

They met last September, Miss MacKail surprised her friends by announcing her engagement late last night, adding the same announcement that a justice of the peace will tie the knot tomorrow.

The broken engagement is that of Shirley Mason and her husband, automobile speed king, Miss Mason revealed the severance at her Hollywood home.

FACE SURGEON ASSURES HER RELIEF

Disappointment, despair, the lapsing of a cold, black river, a bullet humming and searing, then the howl, a few weeks ago—but now a surge of hope, half fearful hope, and radiant optimism happened.

Such an experience had Anna Kashes, of Woburn, lived up to today when she submitted to the first of a series of treatments by Dr. Harry B. Bernstein, plastic surgeon, of No. 18 Dupont street, who says that he can remove the birthmark from her face and make her cheek like that of other girls.

It was the birthmark on her face that prompted 21-year-old Anna to attempt her life with a gun several weeks ago and had her at death's door at the Massachusetts General Hospital, where at first she would not reveal her identity.

"I suppose I am still unhappy," said Mrs. Kashes to a Boston Evening American reporter today. "I can hardly believe that these treatments that Dr. Bernstein will give me will ever remove that terrible birthmark."

"I made up my mind to end it all, and when I shot myself on the forehead I was calm and cool, as I was determined to die. And it is just to have confidence in anything or anybody now."

HUB WIFE TO FIGHT PARIS DIVORCE

Shocked by the news that her husband, Nicholas Tsatos, importer, is seeking a divorce in Paris while she is working as a waitress in a Back Bay restaurant to support herself and two children, Mrs. Clarice Clayton Tsatos is preparing to fight her husband's suit.

The wife, who claims she has not seen Tsatos for two years, first learned of his divorce action through a story printed exclusively in the Boston Evening American.

"I will fight his attempt to gain his freedom if I have to beg money to get to Paris," says Mrs. Tsatos.

"We lived together only two years. I was fond of children and he did not care for them and after the birth of my second baby girl he deserted me."

"I was forced to go home to my mother and then find work for the support of my children."

"Then about three years ago I discovered he was alive and doing a big importing business in New York."

St. Albans, Vt., Nov. 16 (I.N.S.).—Closely pursued by Captain R. H. Pollard and William E. Field of the Border Prohibition Patrol, near Barre, the driver of a liquor-laden automobile today took his life in his hands to escape capture—and won.

He drove the car through a barbed wire fence down an embankment and into a river. Breaking open the door of the closed automobile as it hit the water, the man swam to the opposite shore and disappeared in the woods. The car, covered, was found to contain 374 quarts of red wine and 48 bottles of alcohol.

A third patrol was made between Barre and St. Johnsbury, but the driver escaped from the automobile, which contained 416 bottles of alcohol.

KLANIN FREE SPEECH SUIT

Washington, Nov. 16 (I.N.S.).—The right of the Ku Klux Klan of Georgia to operate in all states of the union regardless of State laws was claimed before the Supreme Court today by attorneys for the secret order.

The suit was brought from an order of the Kansas Supreme Court, the Klan contended, which had denied the Klan the right of free speech and free press to outside the Klan.

The Kansas court held that the Klan had not complied with the State charter act for foreign corporations.

NEW WEDDING FOR CONSUELO

London, Nov. 16 (I.N.S.).—Details of the marriage of the Duke of Marlborough and Consuelo Vanderbilt by the Vatican have caused mixed feelings in the press.

The Daily Express bitterly criticizes the action declaring: "The Pope of this country, anything but a Catholic, have been shocked at the marriage of the Duke of Marlborough and Consuelo Vanderbilt, who were married in 1918. The annulment does not affect the validity of Lord Blandford or Lord Ivor Spencer Churchill's marriage of the Duke of Marlborough and Consuelo Vanderbilt, which was solemnized by Bishop Ames of Southwark, head of the diocese in which the annulment action was started."

Colonel Jacques Bajan, husband of the former duchess, is anxious that his marriage be recognized by the Pope of the Church and it is expected a Catholic ceremony will be performed.

The Duke of Marlborough and his present duchess, the former Gladys Deacon of Boston, may also re-marry. It is said, in still anxious to adopt the Catholic faith and may re-marry in the Catholic church.

JAIL FOR FOES OF MUSSOLINI

London, Nov. 15 (N.H.A.)—Reports that Premier Mussolini has ordered all opposition deputies recently expelled from the Italian Chamber arrested are published here in London.

The dispatch says many arrests have been made and that Italy is in the grip of terror. Republicans in Vittorio Veneto having been driven from their homes at midnight and fled from Fascist headquarters.

Senator Cavasini, a former cabinet member, was taken from his home at Bergamo, the report says, and beaten and then a noose placed around his neck and he was driven to the gulch in the town square. He was not hanged, but died from the effects of the attack, the Daily Herald says.

Al. Corno, the Herald correspondent, says, wealthy Republicans were made to parade the streets with their faces painted red, white and green.

The house of Count Sforza, former foreign minister in Rome, has been destroyed and Sforza Schisano, editor of the "Vice Repubblica" in Rome, is dying, the dispatch states.

The Rome correspondent of the Daily Herald was expelled by Premier Mussolini many months ago and since has sent dispatches from the Italy-Switzerland border. In view of the anti-Fascist policy of the Herald these dispatches should be accepted with reserve.

By JOHN PAGE
International News Correspondent
Mexico City, Nov. 15.—The forty-point reply of the Mexican government to the latest note from Washington regarding Mexico's petroleum and land laws will invite the United States to take its complaint, if any, regarding Mexican legislation to the Hague permanent court of international justice.

At a conference, President Obregon, former President Obregon, Foreign Minister Arce, and Gonzales Roa, who represented Mexico on the Mixed Claims Commission, agreed that while it would be impossible to sponsor legislation in the United States, the Mexican state department, Mexico, would offer to meet the United States before the Hague Court should the state department decide that American rights were being protected by Mexico's laws. Mexico would please heretofore to register a decision by the Hague Court as final, it was said.

known the world over as "Clastic," is the headliner of an exceptionally good program of stars at Keith's. Billed as the "world's greatest mimic," she proved to an enthusiastic audience that she is the most celebrated artist in her line.

Her impression of Florence Reece as Mother Goddam in "The Shanties" was a masterpiece. It was one of her latest successes were real. From an imitation of Vivian Duncan to a Whistling Jack Smith is a far cry.

Her act is never quite complete without a "turn" on Harry Lauder, and to satisfy those who regularly come to the Boston Theatre, the "Clastic" accommodated them.

Billie Maye and Harry Roye and company of six in an artistic dance, "The Shanties," was a new treat. Miss Maye is sure-fire material for the "Follies" and her toes have been heard of.

Others on the bill include Bobby

Hand in a roaring funny skit about South Boston. The play, "Verne King in a short act will laugh a minute; the ever funny Gracie Deagan, who plays the Cinnexa; and three clever jugglers who are billed under the name of "The Three Swifts." These three are cleverest at burlesque clubs were the master of the countless curtain calls they received.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Society Leaders Busy with Various Benefit Sales to Assist Worthy Boston Charities

THE BAZAAR AND BENEFIT FUROR is upon us. And the causes thus benefitted are as the leaves of the tree, uncountable. Wednesday and Thursday the Florence Crittenton League forces hold forth at the Copley-Plaza with attractions designed to detach donors pleasantly from present holders to the League's enrichment.

"CARAVAN" AT HORTICULTURAL HALL on Thursday and Friday is the annual appeal invitingly surrounded by pretty girls and numerous amusements by which the Soldiers and Sailors Club gathers some necessary coin of the realm. Struggling charitable institutions in Germany, which Miss Louisa Loring Dresel annually sponsors (to help children), will benefit from a sale and luncheon on Friday at the Hotel Vendome.

TOMORROW AND WEDNESDAY at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital there is a food sale. Luncheon each day goes along as an accessory in the money-getting line. And as in the other affairs just mentioned. Society has the guiding hand. Friday and Saturday at the Hotel Brunswick a sale for the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children has the high sponsorship of the country's First Lady, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, and of the Commonwealth's First Lady, Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller.

NAMES OF WEIGHT IN THE SOCIAL SCALDS back each and every one of these bazaars. And not only do such names appear in sponsor list, but make and matrons themselves, of the very inner set, give their time and thought and active interest. It's not merely a gesture on Society's part, this interest in things charitable. It's backing, real and enduring, and many, many institutions would be upon the financial rocks did not Society's purses open wide to every call, and was not Society's shoulder to the wheel.

THE "CARAVAN" HAS SUCH SUPPORTERS as Mesdames I. Tucker Burr, Barrett Wendell, Walter M. Pratt, Rose T. Whittier, Charles S. Minot, Charles P. Greenough, 2d, Robert Treat Paine, 2d, and Henry H. Sprague. In the Crittenton forces are Mesdames Curtis Gould, Frederick Page Boyce, Hendricks Hallett Whitman, Robert Gould Shaw, Vittorio Orlandini, Harry Hill Thorndike, Oakes Ames and Reginald Bird. For the German Children's bazaar Mrs. Robert Treat Paine, Mrs. Robert Treat Paine Storer, Mrs. John E. Moore, Mrs. David Cheever and Mrs. Lincoln Davis are names which take precedence.

VERY SMART IN BLACK VELVET with scarf of leopard and black hat flaunting a pert bow, Mrs. Albert Felix Schmitt of Cambridge received with Mr. Schmitt their many friends who dropped into the Gallery of the Guild of Boston Artists. It was a private view of some eighteen or twenty of Mr. Schmitt's works. And it is in that same smart costume that Mr. Schmitt has permanently transferred Mrs. Schmitt to canvas, with a clever treatment of two-tone background.

MISS LILLIAS MORIARTY OF CAMBRIDGE dropped in to see the charming portrait of herself Mr. Schmitt has executed. Miss Moriarty's delicate blondness served brilliantly for Mr. Schmitt's facile brush, and many were the delighted comments on the result. Miss Moriarty is but a year away from her debutante Winter. All sorts of plans are in the making for this young girl. Petite and vivacious, she should cut a pretty figure in the ranks of the buds.

MR. SCHMITT HANDLES with deftest touch masses of brilliant color, as background for people or still life. Neutral toned velvet hangings at the Guild's gallery serve to enhance all this gorgeousness. So that as one comes down the stairway the very first thing to catch the eye is a riot of gorgeous hues.

Paris Police Need Seven-League Boots to Follow Fuller

Paris, Nov. 14.—Governor Alvan T. Fuller of Massachusetts is making life hectic for the guards which have been assigned to him by the French government, due to fears that sympathizers for Sacco and Vanzetti may attempt to stage demonstrations against him.

"I am enjoying Paris, particularly after my abject activity," said Governor Fuller today.

"I am going shopping today and expect to do the same every day until my money gives out."

"If anyone follows me they will need Seven-League boots."

MISS M'SWINEY ACTIVE AGAIN

Dublin, Nov. 14.—Once militant Mary MacSwiney apparently is active again. The Free State government attributes the recent disorders in the County Cork, Meath and other sections to the activities of the extremist section of the Republicans under the leadership of the sister of Francis MacSwiney.

Probably the most spectacular of all the raids made by the Republicans on barracks of the civil guard took place at Kilmacanogue, a small village in County Meath. Twenty raiders, armed with rifles and revolvers, held up the guard and searched the barracks.

MacSwiney's determination to end a career of leading under her brother's banner is being followed by the Free State government in its efforts to suppress the civil guard.

HUNT 'GROOM WHO VANISHED

Worcester, Nov. 14 (A.P.)—Police today began search for Charles Kammes, twenty who has been missing from home since Thursday, the eve of his wedding day. The search was begun at the request of his worried parents.

Kammes was married to Mary Ruth Bellows of North Attleboro, in which town he also makes his home. He went out Thursday night and did not return.

His parents told the police he had been in high spirits in anticipation of wedding his boyhood sweetheart. He had been employed as a mill for several years and was rated as a earnest worker.

SILK? COTTON? WHAT'LL THE POOR GIRLS DO!

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14 (A.P.)—Women's rights have apparently assumed some of the old significance of states rights in the Southland. The suggestion that women wear cotton clothing to alleviate distress of the farmers and create a demand for their product has created a heated controversy as to what sacrifice loyalty demands.

Varying opinions are expressed. Friends and families are divided. Attention has been directed to the debating clubs and the Junior League, and resolutions on the question.

Miss Edeline Lowman, member of Atlanta's social set, is quoted as being "licked to death" with the idea of cotton stockings. "It kills silk's make a wonderful hit with the boys," she said. "They'd rather wear worsted stockings than silk. And, really, the stockings would be awfully warm and protecting in cold weather."

Miss Yolande Gwin takes an opposing view. "Why, I'd rather wear silk," she said. "And stockings, I'd much rather go bare-legged. I'm afraid silk is one tribute to the farmers that is a little cotton handkerchief."

DAWES ATTENDS EXPORT PLAN UP TO GRANGE

Danville, Ill., Nov. 14 (A.P.)—The three-lined Vermillion street that was Joseph G. Cannon's wonted path in life today was his way to death. When half a century of it had led to the nation's capital and the beginning of a remarkable career in the House of Representatives, the end of the road for the veteran statesman.

At the First Methodist Church across the street from the Cannon home there were draped flags, but on the carpet, as it lay in the hall, were many flowers.

The National Grange was asked to endorse an export debenture plan for farm products and recommend that Congress enact legislation making such a plan operative on next year's crop. Such a plan will be similar to that operative in Germany.

Other resolutions called for an increased tariff on agricultural products and the fullest possible development of internal markets.

Summer Bachelors

A Frankly Revealing Serial of Boston Night Life

By WARNER FABIAN

THE party upon which Derry now blinked was at the height of its final stage. In the middle of the floor a wealthy and pretentious fight-nighter, a bankrupt star and a portly female playboy were absorbed in a cork race. Sara McIntyre and Beverly Greenway had blacked up and were playing a seer from "All God's Children Got Wings"—with variations—directed by Max Zindler, who, in less private life, was the most urbane dignified of bankers.

It all seemed fairly on Derry. He wanted to let away somewhere and think quietly. About Willow and Walter Blakey. About the revelation of Tony's status. About herself. She wanted to go home. And there was Tony looking her way.

"Are you married or are you not, Tony?"

"I am not."

"That first day in the store you had some things sent to Mrs. Leiden."

"Right. That was my standard and disappointed guardian. In my fault if you assumed it was my fault."

"It was your fault that you let me on believing it."

"I had my reasons."

"What are they?"

"By advice of counsel Mrs. Leiden was French. I decided to answer."

"What are you and Willard up to? Do they want to play married? Why?"

"It is a cross-examination or a harp. As to why it was so that I wouldn't be shocked from your summer bachelors scheme, we're on a new basis now. I refuse to be checked."

"We aren't. We aren't on any basis at all. What basis do you think we're on?"

"Difficult to define at present. As for the future, I'm going to marry you."

"I'm not going to marry anybody."

"With a sudden, perverse impulse she added maliciously, 'Except maybe Dick O'Leary.'"

"To her amazement, gratification and dismay, the color sank out of his face. 'Are you engaged to him?'"

"No. But that doesn't make any difference. If I've got you right, you're saying I'm not to have a woman thought of herself as she loved you."

"A transient."

"Nothing so intentional as that. It's different quality. It's an absent quality. You've got the absorbing love of personality. I have lowered her voice—of marriage. I couldn't bear to be absorbed. Can't you understand that?"

"All I get is that you ever felt away. That's comradely, isn't it?"

"Oh, isn't that what I'm saying?"

TELEVISION IS URGED

Congestion at Present Proving Serious Handicap to Transportation

By L. HENRY KUNHARDT, Tech Engineer and Vice-President of Boston Manufacturers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

Despite the fact that patronage at North and South stations in recent years, so the quite provisions have been made for present or future growth. This is a serious oversight.

At South Station 35,000,000 persons are handled annually and 17,000,000 at North Station. These figures reflect transportation responsibilities. Considered with street and subway congestion they show the need for a tunnel connecting the North and South railroad terminals.

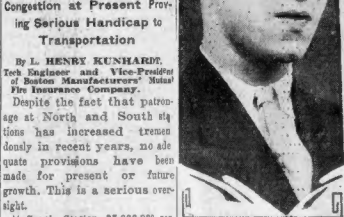

My plan calls for a two-deck tunnel with an incline between North Station and the old Fitchburg depot, standing to a subway station under Haverhill street, to Haverhill street, under Cross street and the market district to State street, where there would be a suitable place near the Custom House, and thence east of Fort Hill square. Purchase street, from which a direct course would be bored under the old South Station.

The incline at North Station would utilize the entire space north of the elevated and present subway and that under buildings on Haverhill street as far as Haverhill street square for approach.

From Haverhill street to the Custom House, the incline would be accommodated through trains and exit and entry to the street, at present handled by United Freight Railway over Atlantic avenue, thus removing freight trains from a busy waterfront street.

There would be a 700-foot section under the Custom House, and long tunnels, with entrances at State and South Market streets and exit at the Custom House and Broad streets by means of a concourse at that over the Custom House tunnel at Washington and Summer streets.

The estimated cost of such an additional 15,000,000 for contingencies. Another installment Wednesday.

BUTLER STICKS AS CHAIRMAN

Washington, Nov. 16 (A.P.)—William M. Butler has no intention of retiring from the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee.

SENATOR AND DRY CHIEF FREED FROM RUM CHARGES

Chicago, Nov. 16 (A.P.)—Senator Lowell R. Mason and Mayor Percy B. Owen, former prohibition director for Illinois, were free today as a result of a verdict given by a jury after an hour's deliberation over evidence, which the government took years to collect, regarding withdrawal of millions of dollars worth of agricultural wine.

Famous Gold Chimes Stolen

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 16 (A.P.)—The famous bells of the Santa Isabel Mission, valued at $20,000 and cast of a gold alloy which made them noted for their beautiful tone, have been stolen.

Another bell which ranks in importance to many students with the Harvard-Princeton rivalry, broke out at Cambridge today as a result of an edit handled by Dean Pound of the Harvard University.

More than 100 first-year students cut class just before the Harvard-Brown game. Dean Pound's law was enforced by the history of the school and the dean. "What the student of first year men meant to do was to show by the circumstances that $1 per cent of last year's class is out of school."

"You are now late at prime fact—an undesirable student and from now on your work will be observed."

He concludes with a list of threats which will follow discontinue, if he does not leave club work and go to school.

Combining the dean's statement with the history of the Harvard-Princeton rivalry, the dean's editorial today.

"A system of compulsory attendance, compulsory preparation for class, compulsory extra-curricular work enforced by the sanction of a punishment has been recognized as a necessary for undergraduate preparation. 'Certainly it is'."

He concludes with a list of threats to a graduate and above all in a professional school.

Dean Pound has not replied to this criticism's charge of battle.

LOSES HIS THREE IN INDIA

MAHARAJAH OF INDORE IN EXILE After Slaying of His Favorite's Protector

Salt Lake City, Nov. 16 (A.P.)—An entourage of majestics bearing, headed by "Mr. T. Rele," who has identified himself as the former Maharajah of Indore, Central India, was to continue an inspection of this city today.

The party attracted little attention until William Ewart, representing national travel bureau, explained that "T. Rele" was the name used by the Indian prince in visiting several American cities.

Through Ewart the Maharajah said: "I wanted to see America, but as Queen Maria is dying, it is quiet, unobserved. I wanted to study conditions unobserved and that is why I preferred my incognito of 'T. Rele'."

Ewart's announcement was the first indication that the Prince was in America. He was last reported in exile in Europe following assassination in favor of his elder brother, last February. The Prince relinquished his rights shortly after a scandal involving the slaying of a wealthy merchant friend of his favorite dancer, Mumtaz Begum.

Investigation of the villain of the merchant, known as Tawla, revealed the slaying of a child named Indira, the Prince's daughter, who was killed in 1924 and sought Ewart's protection.

THREATENED FATE SLASHED. Threatened with death if he failed to return to the royal household, the prince asked aid from the British police in Bombay. While motoring in Bombay, India, and Mumtaz were attacked by several high officials, sent to have a hand under order from the Prince. Dawla was killed before the assassins were driven away by British officers. Mumtaz was slashed across the chest, marring the beautiful features for which she was known in Indian courts.

Seven Indian government officials were arrested and three were sentenced to death for the slaying of Indira. The others were deported.

BROWN BARES STRENGTH AND WEAKNESS IN TWO PLAYS AGAINST HARVARD IN STADIUM BATTLE

Brown's first victory gesture

Brown back misses two tunnels

The Brown attack was a pretty thing to watch when working smoothly as it was on the play which gave the Bruins their first score. Running plays having failed, Miesel shot a pass to Randall, who crossed the final line with Harvard still wondering what was all about.

ONE TIME BROWN FAILED TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF AN OPENING. Even the best of us make mistakes and the great Brown team made a few Saturday in the game with Harvard. Photo shows two wide tunnels the forwards have made for Lawrence, but he hesitated deciding which to take and was downed by Saltonstall without further gain.

36 Candidates Start Free-for-All for Harvard Grid Jobs

By TED LYON.
"GENERAL RADIOALISM" is once more riding high, wide and handsome in charge of Harvard's gridiron legion. With the Yale game just around the corner there is no such thing as a variety eleven at Cambridge today.
"No less an authority than Head Coach Arnold Harwood responded to that statement and he said to know.
And if that isn't the height of radioism, pray tell us what is. In other words, the Crimson lineup for the Yale game was born, at the very latest, in the battle with Princeton.
The best looking combination at the close of the Tiger meet donned the varsity top and wore it to cheer to victory or defeat in the battle against the Blue.
There were no changes because there were not any grounds for change. The varsity spent the day of the annual Crimson-Brown battle against Princeton play Yale and after two weeks of the lightest kind of work, look on the Blue.
Harwood wasn't exactly pleased with the showing of his charges against Princeton and he made a few changes in the varsity line-up against Brown instead of using able against the Bruins as had been the Harvard custom for years.
The result of his action is that he is now planning to try his varsity against Brown, Brown and French against Brown and build up a more or less new machine in the hope of scoring a victory over Yale.
His schedule calls for new players, new plays and a new team spirit and all to be developed in the short space of three days, the final practice of the season being slated for Tuesday.
A new backfield made up of Stoddard, Guarnacini, Boyles and French is likely.
Stoddard, a senior, played brilliantly in the Brown game and is the logical successor to Putnam as the pilot of the revamped machine. Guarnacini is the hope of the coaches, however. The Wakefield Italian is the life and heart of the Brown offense. With this Brown prototype in the career ranks, it is all set for the new team.
Boyles, because of his defensive value, will probably stick with the team as the best Crimson safety because a back of his type is needed to vary the Harvard attack.
The line is due for general overhaul. Bill Saltonstall and Hap Strong should be at the ends but Stoddard, an unknown before the Brown game, is a probable starter. Cooley, because of the punting ability alone, will be the other tackle to center. Pratt, the best Crimson lineman, at center. Ernie Caraceni has been named over the top line. At the guard positions, Coach Jim Gardner has Clyde Kilgore, Bill Good-

TIGERS ACCEPT PARLEY OFFER OF HARVARD

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 16. (A.P.)—Princeton has accepted the offer of Harvard to meet in conference and attempt to iron out the difficulties between the two universities that resulted in suspension of athletics last week.
At the same time, however, the Tiger football schedule for 1927, announced last night, disclosed that Ohio State, an outstanding member of the western conference, had taken the November date on which the rugged Harvard-Princeton battle was fought this fall.
While Princeton students danced in high glee about a huge bonfire that kept burning for a hundred feet above the campus in celebration of twin conquests of Harvard and Yale, the Princeton Student Council approved the suggestion of the Harvard Student Council that committees of the two schools get together.
Following the meeting, Joseph Pendergast, backfield star on the Tiger eleven, and president of the council, telegraphed Leo Daley, veteran guard of the Crimson offense and head of the student body, that his council "approved the suggestion for a meeting between representatives of the two schools." . . . to be held in the near future.
Pendergast said later that while no committee had as yet been chosen, he had suggested that the meeting take place in New Haven next Saturday on the occasion of the Harvard-Yale game.

Berlenbach to Fight Sharkey in Gotham Late in January

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Paul Berlenbach, former light-heavyweight champion, who has been taking a lay-off on the Pacific coast ever since the close of the outdoor season, will return to New York within a few weeks.
He is eager to close a match against "The first of the new year" against Jack Sharkey, Boston heavy-weight and conqueror of Harry Wills.
This was disclosed by Ben Stern, trainer for Berlenbach, who said that he had received word from the former champion instructing both him and Manager Dan Hickey to open negotiations at once for a bout to take place January 24.
Whether Berlenbach planned to return to the Benches, Hickey division for another crack at the title he lost to the former champion, was a matter that would have to await the former champion's return. The fact, however, that Berlenbach is seeking a Sharkey battle is taken to mean that the Astoria battler is not any too keen to go down to the 140-pound division again.
BOWSER TO HELP COACH PITTSBURGH NEXT YEAR
Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 16. (A.P.)—Charles W. Bowser, football coach at Grove City College, will be first assistant to Jack Rutherford, head coach at the University of Pittsburgh, next year. He will succeed to M. W. Lamm, resigned. Bowser's term furnished one place in New Haven next Saturday on the occasion of the Harvard-Yale game.

Harvard Cancels All Scheduled Athletic Dates With Tigers

LAST Friday's meeting between the cross-country squads of Harvard and Princeton, formally ended all athletic relations between the Crimson and Tigers.
The hockey game, the basketball match, the track meet, the wrestling, fencing, lacrosse and baseball series between the ancient rivals have been canceled, as Princeton desired was announcing the break. These two games are the stiffest the Bruins will play.

Lynn Title Game on Barry Field

The Lynn school committee met in the Mayor's office to decide on the playing of the Thanksgiving Day game between Lynn Classical and Lynn English Sons of the people in the city wanted the game played at the Lynn Stadium, while others favored the Francis B. Barry playground, which, while it can't accommodate the crowd would like to attend the annual game, is a much better playing surface than the Stadium.
Arguments flew thick and fast, but it was finally decided to play the game at the Barry playground as in past years.

Yale Coaches Shift Lineup for Big Game

New Haven, Ct., Nov. 16.—Yale football coaches today made an effort to develop their attack against the Harvard game by more than an hour of play rehearsal in dummy practice. Their attack against the Crimson will be fought out four days hence, but the coaches of the Yale backfield will be in position to reserve his best strength for a special play.
While it is probable that Bill Kline, who plays most of the Harvard game, it is evident that his absence most of last week, when he was called to attend his mother's funeral, will be a serious handicap to the Yale backfield.
Jack Felling, who this afternoon ordered to the backfield position, which they filled at Princeton at the end of the season, will try to out for another series of plays Larry Jack Goodwin and Johnny Goss. The former will not be chosen.

Fights Last Night

Bruins vs. Canadiens Indoor Sports of Hockey Season

By BILL GRIMES.
CAPTAIN SPRAGUE CLEGGHORN will lead his Bruins against Les Canadiens this evening at the Boston Arena in the first battle of the National Hockey League season.

Due to the new battery, the largest crowd that has ever witnessed a hockey game in this city will be on hand to lend their support to the Bruins. The entire home base will be sold for this encounter. Although Les Canadiens is a new team, it is a wound up and is the most colorful outfit in the league. The game of hockey has never produced the enthusiasm of the Bruins and Canadiens. TOO MUCH PENALTY FOR TEMPERAMENT
THE star football player is a young man of personality and exuberant individuality. That's why he is able to step out from the mob of carefully selected athletes and make his own deeds loom large on the sport sky. He has the punch and the kick, added to the physique and training that the common herd own. The spark that makes a genius burns in the baseballer's foot, in the basketball player's hand, in the football player's head. He has what the people of the stage call temperament. He's likely to break out now and then and do things that Sunday school pupils frown on, but when you stop to figure, very few of the same pupils ever get their pictures on the sport pages. The idea is brought to mind by a news item to the effect that O'Brien, star tackle of the unbeaten Lafayette team, has been fired from the squad because he stepped into a jam with the minions of the law in Pennsylvania, where his "college" was parked. The boy, who is All-American material, and who would have been captain at Lafayette next year, hopped out after Saturday's game and did a bit of Barney Oldfielding along the highways near Easton, Pa. He was working off his steam. But the guardsmen grabbed him in the act, and having no idea of the repercussions that giving him a put on flaming, full-blooded youth, consigned him to the bastille. So, naturally, the coaches and the authorities are horrified, and the youngster is sentenced to the outer world.

TEX SKEPICAL OVER DEMPSEY COMEBACK

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
New York, Nov. 10.—Apparently unimpressed by the young man's virtuous reforms, Tex Rickard to-day informed the writer that he still considers "too great confidence" in Jack Dempsey's extravagant promise of a sweeping comeback because the champion had plenty of money and no particular need of anything at this time.

Box Fighting May Be Barbarous but It Is Often Profitable

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

Finnegan Tells How He Fooled Critics to Win Crown

By FRED C. LANE

"It's been my one ambition since first I pulled on my first pair of boxing gloves to be a champion and now that I have attained my one goal in life, why it's all like a dream to me. I can hardly realize the importance of last night's victory for to be honest with you, I haven't had time to think about it."

And little wonder. When the writer found the present featherweight champion at his home at 13 Cottage Park, Dorchester, he was answering the phone receiving congratulations from his host of friends near and far as a result of his sensational win, scored over Chick Suggs of New Bedford at the last night.

"And what are your plans for the future, Dick?" was with next question asked at the titleholder. "Gee, I don't know. I guess Dan Carroll, my manager, is going to send me to the country for a rest and here I plan to fight anybody in the world at 126 pounds. While you're talking about the title business, let me tell you, let me tell you that, though my boxing ability played some part in winning the title, much of the credit is due Dan Carroll, Jerry Gardens, Maffish Roberts, Bob Curley, my shipmate, and my many friends who saw me and gave me encouragement that like one word to win."

"It was a hard fight and I am glad it is over and that I won. I'm glad I fooled the doubting Thomases and my strength at 126 pounds. Only once before in my life did I have to make weight and it was when I fought for the title of the navy."

HEAVY CHANGES. "Believe me there was quite a difference conditioning myself for that title and the one with Chick."

"Just imagine dancing and shading in the freerom of the ship. Sweating away my very life and then to have my trunks apply at auction pump to reduce my weight. I guess that's what you mean. Anyhow, you know what number uses to fix a clogged pipe, eh? I would have that applied to my back and stomach, and think of all for 126 pounds."

"To be honest with you, I only used six days for this fight last night. The method used by Carroll Gardner to bring me to weight is far different from that used in the navy."

"And best of all it was for a week or so, too."

"Quite a difference between 126 and a box of chocolate, for that is what I got for my first fight in the navy. Bob Curley, my champion, I betted six hard rounds, and I didn't smoke I was given a box of chocolate."

ACTOR KEEPS REST. "Honeyboy looked none the worse of his battle last night. Except for slight discoloration under his left eye on a bandage on his left temple, he was better by Suggs, you would hardly know Honeyboy had been in a battle."

"He was a bit drawn looking, more or less, but I suppose that's all. He has yet to lay his tired head on a pillow. Neither did Mrs. McCarren, mother-in-law of the champion."

"I'll tell you little woman, who has looked over Dick since he was knee high in a cradle, she is a little bit worried, but she knows the effect of a hard strain more than Dick himself."

"It's been a good box and deserves a lot of good luck coming to him," said Mrs. McCarren. "Dick is never given me cause to worry. It's hard to do so. I am as much as I am, but I suppose it's all in the match is made and it's over and now that he has won their odds' featherweight title, well, I can hardly explain how I feel."

IT GAVE BUTT ACHT. "You think Suggs butted you intentionally?" was another question hurled at Honeyboy. "Without hesitation he answered, 'No.'"

"What it made me mad and fight harder when I saw Chick draw his ears over the wound when it was bleeding. But I suppose it's all in the game. Anything to beat your opponent."

"What punch in the fight do you think was the most outstanding?" "I am pretty sure I won the fight in the first round. Chick had dropped his right a title low. I saw the opening and whipped across my left to his jaw. It felt like I was using my arms as we clinched and then knew I had him."

"Well, I suppose you will sink out your best girl and listen to the working chimes, Dick," I ventured. "Well, I suppose it will happen eventually, but just now I am going to be a champion."

to be a real champion. I am going to give everybody a bit of my title that is worthy. Perhaps after a while to be the titleholder, or maybe before, who can tell, I might make the "big jump." But before I do that there is one little woman in the world I will see right, and that is this little lady here. Honeyboy looked none the worse of his battle last night. Except for slight discoloration under his left eye on a bandage on his left temple, he was better by Suggs, you would hardly know Honeyboy had been in a battle.

HEAVY CHANGES. "Believe me there was quite a difference conditioning myself for that title and the one with Chick."

"Just imagine dancing and shading in the freerom of the ship. Sweating away my very life and then to have my trunks apply at auction pump to reduce my weight. I guess that's what you mean. Anyhow, you know what number uses to fix a clogged pipe, eh? I would have that applied to my back and stomach, and think of all for 126 pounds."

"To be honest with you, I only used six days for this fight last night. The method used by Carroll Gardner to bring me to weight is far different from that used in the navy."

"And best of all it was for a week or so, too."

"Quite a difference between 126 and a box of chocolate, for that is what I got for my first fight in the navy. Bob Curley, my champion, I betted six hard rounds, and I didn't smoke I was given a box of chocolate."

"I'll tell you little woman, who has looked over Dick since he was knee high in a cradle, she is a little bit worried, but she knows the effect of a hard strain more than Dick himself."

"It's been a good box and deserves a lot of good luck coming to him," said Mrs. McCarren. "Dick is never given me cause to worry. It's hard to do so. I am as much as I am, but I suppose it's all in the match is made and it's over and now that he has won their odds' featherweight title, well, I can hardly explain how I feel."

IT GAVE BUTT ACHT. "You think Suggs butted you intentionally?" was another question hurled at Honeyboy. "Without hesitation he answered, 'No.'"

"What it made me mad and fight harder when I saw Chick draw his ears over the wound when it was bleeding. But I suppose it's all in the game. Anything to beat your opponent."

East Protests Price of Army Navy Tickets

Chicago, Nov. 16 (A.P.)—Above the din of the great midwest scramble for admission to the Army-Navy football game here November 21, whatever the price, are heard protests from the East that the scale set in Chicago is beyond the means of the average fan.

Admission prices have been the least of the worries of the South Park commission, in charge of arrangements. The big problem has been to pacify the 250,000 persons holding the 40,000 available tickets, rather than to determine the scale which, however, has been based on the expense of bringing the Cadets and Marines, as well as the team to Chicago.

Of the 100,000 tickets issued, 40,000 went to the Army and a similar number to the Navy, but each department returned 10,000 tickets to the South Park commission and the commission paid the standard price of $3 a ticket. The Army and Navy will distribute its quota of 20,000 tickets each at the usual price of from $2.50 to $3.50.

Latz Will Defend Title for Charity

New York, Nov. 16 (A.P.)—World's welterweight champion, has signed a contract to engage in his first battle in defense of his title after an absence from the ring of 10 months. Latzo closed terms with a group of Newark promoters to engage in a ten-round bout against Joe Rimnitch of Butte, Mont., in a charity show in the Newark Armory on December 3.

PRO COURT NET CHAMP TO RISK HIS LAURELS

London, Nov. 16 (A.P.)—G. F. Covey, world's professional court tennis champion, has accepted a challenge for his title sent by Pierre Etchebaster of Paris. The match will be played at the Princes Club, Knightsbridge, England, during the week beginning May 9, 1927. The men will play for a bet of $1,000 a side.

Covey won the championship before the war and successfully defended it against Walter Kinsman of New York in 1922 and again in 1923.

HULBERT RE-NAMED HEAD OF AMATEUR ATHLETES

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 16—Murray Hulbert of New York was unanimously re-elected president of the A. A. U. for a third term. He was nominated by W. C. Froot, of Boston, as deposed by Hulbert of Los Angeles. Avery Brundage, of Chicago, was elected first vice-president.

Rickard Offers 'Honeyboy' Garden Bout With Bass

JESSE MACMAHON, Tex Rickard's matchmaker at Madison Square Garden, offered Honeyboy Finnegan a bout with Benny Bass of Philadelphia to be staged in New York late next month for the New York American's Christmas Basket Fund immediately after the Dorchester featherweight had won the featherweight title by defeating Chick Suggs.

Dan Carroll, Finnegan's manager, stated today that he has virtually closed with MacMahon and that there are only a few details in connection with the match to be adjusted.

SPLIT MENAGES PRO SOCCER LEAGUERS

By BILL MEALY

A complete break between the United States Soccer Association and the Amateur Association will be the probable outcome of the ultimatum sent the American League by the referees demanding an increase in their salaries and turned down by the latter body.

Coming at a time when the owners of the pro team are devising ways to drive them out of the league with the exemptions insured and also when the work of a hard 70 per cent of the officials is being demanded, the split is a blow to the soccer game in this country.

The American League has offered $25,000 to the officials, but the referees, who have been the backbone of the game, and have to be paid an even amount, they are not prepared to accept.

P. A. makes a pipe perform!

PUT it down for a fact here and now —if you don't know Prince Albert, you don't know how well that old pipe of yours can perform. You're going to find this out by personal experience some day. You may as well cut the corners and start today.

Buy yourself a tidy red tin of P. A. now. Open it up and let that fragrance of real, honest-to-goodness tobacco tell its own story. Then pack a wad of it into the bowl of your pipe and light up. The first pull will tell you no other tobacco ever tasted so good.

P. A. is so cool in a pipe . . . so refreshingly cool and sweet. It seems you never will get enough of it. Fortunately, P. A. is mild enough to let you smoke all you want. And it has body enough to make you want to. You try it and see!

You may think you are all set on a smoke-program. Never mind. Just wait till you have smoked Prince Albert! A pipe just hasn't had a chance if it has never been filled with P. A. Get some today! It will be a revelation. It will, for a fact!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, packed and held closed in the hands of the pipe-smoker. It is sold everywhere with every bit of pipe and pouch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Mr. Mayor, Mr. Crowley, Mr. Sennott, How Long Will You Stand for This?

Boston sporting promoters made a bid last night to put this city on the map as a locale of major boxing events, but the effort was dangerous to life and limb and represented nothing more to the casual spectator than an effort "to get the coin."

Utter disregard of the comforts and the rights of the spectators prevailed.

The police protection was wholly inadequate and the ushers no more useful than so many clothing store dummies.

A wildly cheering, good natured, happy crowd stormed the doors in an effort to see the championship fray and through the shortsightedness of the management was turned into a disgusted mob. Only a few hundred of those who attended got the seats that they paid for. Thousands swarmed into the building and pre-empted the chairs that were supposed to be reserved for those who paid good prices, and when the ticket-holders came in, they found themselves "stung." They were left standing or squatting on the floor—nothing to show for their investment but a cardboard coupon.

Some "green-goods man" operating in the same fashion would be telling it to the judge today.

All the aisles were packed to suffocation by milling, sweating men and women—no effort made to get them the accommodations for which they had paid. And no one could have left that sardine box should smokers have started a fire. Be it said to the credit of the supporters of Boston sports that this utter disregard of their rights was accepted with nothing more than verbal protests.

The Mayor, Police Commissioner and the Fire Department should see that no such dangerous crowding is permitted to be staged in Boston again.

The memory of the Pickwick Club is too verdant and the disaster of the Iroquois Theatre too appalling to permit of taking such desperate chances for the sake of crowding a few more dollars into the cash box.

As a boxing exhibition, the Finnegan-Bugs go was one of the best that has been seen in Boston for many a day, but the animal-like herding of the crowd was disgusting in its dangerous potentialities.

Debt Dodgers Plan New Drive Called a 'Moral Propaganda'

American opinion will be wise to brace itself for a new offensive by the foreign debt dodgers. It is coming.

A year ago the League of Nations named a committee to arrange for an international economic conference.

In presiding over this committee, former Premier Theunis, of Belgium, let the cat out of the bag when he urged a "moral propaganda" in favor of the proposition that "no country can live in prosperity if other countries are poor and uneasy."

The "moral propaganda" has begun. Recently, eminent international bankers issued a manifesto urging the leveling of national trade barriers, including tariffs.

At once the internationalists pointed fingers at the United States. They had a dream of free entry into rich pastures. The League's committee on the international economic conference, today at Geneva holding its second and final session, contains many of the manifesto's signers.

The International Chamber of Commerce, responsive to the same influence, is to meet in Stockholm next June. The United States Chamber of Commerce will be represented and, consciously or unconsciously, will give the "moral propaganda" an American sounding board.

International bankers, international economists and the whole brood of intriguing politicians and diplomats of Europe have at the back of their minds one supreme desire in connection with this conference.

It is to wrangle out of the war debts and to pillory America if America does not cancel.

They could not trap us in the League. They find we are wary of their World Court. So now they have recourse to "moral propaganda." Moral, indeed!

Autos, Once a Luxury, Now a Real Investment

More than 20,000,000 motor vehicles are registered in the United States—one car to every five persons. The automobile is no longer a luxury. It is a source of happiness and pleasure for everyone. It is a valuable business and pleasure asset.

In these days every man with a living wage can afford a car. If he does not own an automobile he is robbing himself of valuable time and his family of much enjoyment. Automobile ownership has been brought within the reach of every New Englander through reputable merchandising of new and used cars. Good automobiles are offered at prices to fit every pocketbook.

The standard of dependability in the sale of used cars has become established. The user-car dealer shares largely in the fact that there is today one car to every five persons.

The Cradle Snatching Season Is On

SILENCE IS MOTHER OF GREAT IDEAS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE seems likely to rival the reputation which General Grant enjoyed, of whom it was said that he could keep still in seven languages. Conversation is an art. It takes training and experience as well as natural gifts to be a good talker. But we forget that silence is also an art. It takes training, experience and natural talent to say nothing.

I can recommend silence as the best of all weapons. You can hurt a man more by just keeping still and saying nothing at times than you can by any roar or bellow or pop.

The idea is that when you say or do anything at all, it can be answered, but when you say and do nothing there is no way to answer.

I have always been entertained by the story of the three Canadian trappers.

One morning at breakfast in camp one of the trappers asked, "Did you hear that dog?"

Nothing was said, but the next day at breakfast another man replied, "What dog?"

The next day the third man was observed packing his things, making ready to leave. On being asked where he was going, he said, "I am going away. There is too much rag chewin' around here for me."

The conversation had reached a tumultuous apex that was too much for the silence loving brother.

There are monasteries in Italy inhabited by a kind of monks who never speak. All day and night they go about their rituals and never utter a word. Somehow this kind of performance always seems to me to be more acceptable in the sight of the Lord than many long prayers.

Most good work is conceived in silence. Silence seems to be the mother of all great ideas.

You get dexterity and quickness from doing and saying things, and from meeting people; but you get depth from saying and doing nothing, and from being alone.

The greatest crisis of your life is death, and you will have to face it alone.

It is a good plan to get used to solitude and to find entertainment within yourself in preparation for whatever fate may bring.

ON FRIENDSHIPS TOO PRECIOUS TO WASTE

You have had a quarrel with one of your best friends, do you not? You are stubborn and won't make advances to adjust matters. You miss your friend's society and he misses yours. Possibly time has removed much of the soreness but you cannot bring yourself to take the first step toward reconciliation. It also annoys you greatly that you are not friends. Life is too short to lose good friends. It is a waste of time to let a quarrel fester. Now as you think of it, the matter was a trivial one to break up a friendship.

The one toward whom you felt aggrieved had done many good things for you that should have counterbalanced such a small matter. But you were superstitious on the occasion and it got beyond you. Your bitter exchange of words made a breach. Life is too short to lose good friends. It is a waste of time to let a quarrel fester. Now as you think of it, the matter was a trivial one to break up a friendship.

Odds and Ends of the Town

Easy to Register

NOW is the time to think about registration for the city election next year. The books are open daily at CITY HALL, and no credit or confusion exists. It may be interesting to note that there is a total registration in BOSTON of 22,115. Of this 13,641 are men and 8,474 are women. The REGISTRATION ENROLLED 16,548—31,115 men and 23,799 women.

While republishing the gas tank in LAKE CITY I said a boy but over eight years old smoking a black cigar. I called the attention of the proprietor of the station to this. "That's my boy," he said. "He's been smoking cigars for over a year. He used to chew tobacco every day, but I 'bout broke him off that habit."

HOPPE WAS READY.

CAPTAIN HERBARD J. HOPPE of TRAFFIC HEADQUARTERS believes in preparedness, as was so plainly displayed by the efficient manner in which he and his "B-3" men handled traffic the day of the HARVARD-BROWN football game. Anticipating the day of the game for that day, the great captain planned ahead and when the rush came he had his men stationed at strategic points and everything went smoothly without trouble.

Before THANKSGIVING DAY, some of the church workers in the BOSTON TEMPLE of holding a "Day of Complaining." Such a day would be a waste of time.

Rev. JAMES F. RIDER, Jr., assistant pastor of the BOSTON TEMPLE, thinks that to have such a day would be a waste of time. He is a well known figure in the city. He is a well known figure in the city. He is a well known figure in the city.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

SAMUEL W. REID has sent a 10-50 proposition, lady dear. In all probability, it didn't do any damage to your brain or to your feelings than you did to his. He certainly had every hope that you would make him happy or he wouldn't have married you. And you must have disappointed him just as much as he disappointed you. So he has gone out of 3001 life.

"Wasn't he your husband?"

Not Her Slave.

Yes, he was your husband, but he wasn't your slave. You didn't own the smallest particle of his body, mind or soul. He belonged to himself just as much after marriage as he did before. Your marriage wasn't a bit of sale. It was the record of an attempted partnership by two separate free individuals. It implied certain mutual obligations. BUT IT WASN'T IMPOSED.

THE OWNERSHIP OF EACH OTHER.

This is the condition of marriage as it is understood by our courts. Certain religious bodies and there is a deeper bond between husband and wife than that of a legal contract. It is a bond that is not broken by divorce. It is a bond that is not broken by death. It is a bond that is not broken by anything. It is a bond that is not broken by anything.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Remove is the echo of a lost virtue. A laugh is worth a hundred groans in any war. A hand is the capacity of doing anything that depends on application and industry. It is a voluntary power, while genius is involuntary. —DRELLI. That learning is most useful which unlearns evil.—Aristotle.

The Standard White Rat

By GARRETT P. SERVICE

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

MY eye fell the other day upon an advertisement concerning the "Standard White Rat; Mus Norvegicus, Albinus," and as I read the interminable list of doctors, professors, universities, colleges, medical schools, research laboratories, drug manufacturers, bacteriologists, sanitarians, hospitals, hygiene institutions, food companies, etc., including names that are household words, to each and to all of whom, and of which, "the Standard White Rat" is a personage of very high importance.

I began to comprehend the vast scope of animal experimentation in modern medicine, biology and hygiene.

Viewed in this way, Mus Norvegicus, Albinus stands out as the experimental animal par excellence, the standard symbol of immolation. Its sufferings for mankind and species blindly and utterly unknown to the mortals. Science breeds every sort of "breed, raise and mistreat" this little animal in a "perfectly healthy" and "actively growing" condition. "Absolutely free from disease, constitutional infection, contagious or parasitic." It is raised in an Eden, to be fit for sacrifice in a laboratory.

This that I am writing is not a bit of anti-vivisection "literature," my countrymen, it is a scientific document. It is the mistreatment of man that he cannot live and advance his race without imposing grievous sufferings upon his lowly animal colleagues of the earth.

Science and medicine should be right in principle and I believe generally right in method. A scientific man, who is an animal experimenter for the sake of knowledge and gaining mastery over disease, is not a villain.

But it is also right that we, as human beings, should be responsible for the suffering that we are doing, and not permit ourselves to be insensitive to the whimper of the victim.

At this time, when millions of people are suffering from the symptoms of the Standard White Rat, it is a cruel irony that the Standard White Rat is a personage of very high importance.
